

OTTOMAN

I hoped my design would show a more contemporary take on patchwork. Instead of lots of small pieces of fabric sewn together to create a repeating pattern, I have used a few large pieces in freeform shapes. This is perhaps less complicated, so might feel less daunting for beginners. I imagine this ottoman being the focal point of a room, with other upholstered pieces around it in more neutral or monochromatic tones. I would add artwork and cushions in colours that complement the ottoman and let it remain the standout piece.

'The McCall Ottoman', £840 excluding fabric, from David Seyfried; covered in 'Cheyenne' (from left: indigo, mademoiselle, meringue, mimosa, cerise), linen, £120, from Pierre Frey. 'The Rattan Carousel Armchair' (lacquer red), £6,800, from Soane. *Fabric and trim prices are per metre unless otherwise stated.
